

OREGON MIST.

February 10, 1899.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Rev. G. W. Goo, D. D., will deliver his second lecture on "Army Regulations" in the courthouse next Monday evening at 7:30. All who heard the first lecture may be assured that this one is entirely different and just as good, if not better, than the first. Admission, 10 cents. For the benefit of the M. E. church.

Ex-Sheriff Massee was in town Monday attending the adjourned term of circuit court, which set his trial for Wednesday, May 10th. Mr. Massee left here on Tuesday for his home near Pomeroy, Wash., where he will put in his crop of grain, which he expects to accomplish by the middle of April, when he will return here and undergo trial.

Muckle Bros. have purchased and shipped to their logging camp on the Cowlitz a very large logging donkey engine. They have been doing the work in their camp with one engine, but find it to be unequal to perform the work which they expect to accomplish this season. The high price of logs is very encouraging to loggers, and preparations are now being made for an immense output all along the Columbia this year.

Representative Hall introduced a bill in the legislature last Friday to fix the salaries of the county officers of this county, by reducing the salary of sheriff from $1500 to $1400, but adding $700 for deputy hire; reducing county clerk from $1800 to $1400, but allowing $900 for deputy hire; increasing treasurer from $600 to $900; county judge, $500 to $725; giving assessor $900, instead of $600, and school superintendent, $500, instead of $300.

Herb Howard, of Yankton, contains a liberal supply of pretty good material, for a small man. He is decidedly in favor of building a plank road from St. Helens to Nehalem valley, and is ready and anxious to pay his portion of the taxation for the entire ten years in advance. If there were more such enterprising citizens, the proposed improvement would be a reality in short order. Mr. Howard says he would be glad to pay the full amount in lumber in advance.

We received by mail last week a catalogue from a San Francisco printing establishment, containing all the forms and instructions for making application to be declared a bankrupt. We are not in the bankrupt business, ourselves, but if there are any more popular editors in the county who are contemplating taking advantage of that law, as did Sanford and Mr. Vandenberg, the late populist candidate for congress in the first district, we will gladly loan them the book.

The News says that after a thorough canvass of the situation it is convinced that business conditions in Portland are better at present than they have been since the panic of 1893. It isn't that a paroxysm of times have been good for so long that ordinary people have lost sight of the fact that any different conditions ever prevailed. Most people are wrapped up in the pursuit of business matters so that the statement, coming at the time and from the source it does, is looked upon as a sort of a joke.

Did you ever hear of the town of No-good, on the banks of the river Stow, where the sometime-or-other agent of the air and the soft Go-way grow? It lies in the valley of What-the-use, in the province of Let-her-slide; it is the home of the reckless I-don't-care, where the Give-it-up-abide. The town is as old as the human race and it grows with the light of years; it is wrapped in the log of the idler's dream; its streets are paved with disordered schemes and are sprinkled with useless tears.

At the present time there is a spirit of improvement and progress in the atmosphere. The people have aroused themselves from the effects of five years of panic depression. The dairy industry in Columbia county is attracting the attention of people who are desirous of going into it; those who have timber claims and the lumbermen, since the passing of the Nicaragua canal bill, feel satisfied that times are wonderfully better, and the local improvements that are going on indicate healthy and progressive growth. Five years of such a spirit will make Columbia county a bee hive of industry.

The cannery combings is a scheme of the grafter, pure and simple, says the Welcome. If curd old cannerymen, who have been in the business for years, do not know enough to conduct the business without the aid of some promoter who could not tell the difference between a chinook salmon and a sand hill crane, they would better get out of the business. It must be flattering to the pride of such men as King, Cook, Hanthorne, Megler and others to have some dude from the East step in and tell them how to run a cannery. If a combination would be beneficial, it can be effected without the aid of an outsider. This advice costs nothing, but it is well meant.

A very pleasant evening was spent in the castle hall of the Knights of Pythias last Thursday by the members and friends of Ava temple, Rathbone Sisters. The occasion was the conferring of the work on three candidates by the staff of officers of Orpheus temple of Portland. The visitors, about forty in number, arrived down on the Shaver, and the work was proceeded with at once, which occupied the time until near midnight, after which lunch was served, speeches made and a general good time indulged in until 3 o'clock, when the Telephone arrived and the visitors departed for home. The St. Helens contingent were highly pleased with the work throughout, and we believe the visitors enjoyed themselves. The staff from Orpheus is deserving of much credit for the professional manner with which every detail part of the work is done. The result of the visit will inspire the home temple to renewed energy, and we believe the pace is set for a healthy growth of the local lodge.

There are two stray cayuses on the German hill range that should be taken care of by their owners. The animals have been fed by Mr. George Lomont a greater part of the winter, but "forbearance has ceased to be a virtue," and George says he can no longer afford to feed them. One is a gray, the other a sorrel, and an effort should be made to find their owner.

In another column will be found the advertisement of the Holaday nurseries, at Scappoose. It is the duty of Columbia county people to patronize this nursery, it being a home enterprise, besides the stock kept on hand is of the best quality and true to name. When you are contemplating the purchase of fruit trees, write to the Monte Vieta nursery for prices.

Prepare to get ready to commence. The tax roll will be turned over to the sheriff by the 15th of the month, or before. The clerks are now at work extending the tax on the roll, which work, by the way, was delayed four days on account of the special school levy in the Rainier district being that much behind time in reaching the clerk's office.

The Mist was the only paper in Columbia county to furnish its readers with the news that Freeman's gristmill, at Fishhawk, was destroyed week before last by fire. They are all fairly good papers, but in order to keep posted on what is happening in the county it is absolutely necessary to read THE MIST.

County School Superintendent I. H. Copeland, Mrs. S. S. Way and G. G. Haley are conducting teachers' examination here this week. Those taking the examination are Hoba Shatto, Cora Burlingame and Alice Perry, of Rainier, and Nettie Charlton, of St. Helens.

The Linnton smelter is about to start up soon. The plant has been in litigation for some time, but the suit will be settled and the works allowed to resume operations. The Linnton works is the only smelter in Oregon, while Washington has two, one at Everett and one at Tacoma.

The more creameries we can secure for neighborhoods in Columbia county the more cows there will be milked, the product of which will bring more money into the county and necessarily more permanent improvement will result. Encourage creameries, by all means.

Rev. A. C. Fairchild, of Portland, will preach in Houlton next Sunday at 11:30 a. m.; in Warren at 3 p. m., and in St. Helens M. E. church at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Gue will conduct the quarterly conference at 2 p. m. next Monday in the M. E. church.

The one-half interest in the Banquet saloon belonging to Thomas Cooper has been disposed of to Mr. J. S. Cloninger and transferred by him to Mr. Eugene Whitney, who in future will assist the former gentleman in the conduct of the business.

Smelt are very plentiful in the lower river, and they are going into the small streams to spawn in great numbers. People who believe in omens construe this as a sign that the following run of salmon will be large.

The Slavens boys, who have been employed for about a year in Portland, expect to start the first of March for Alaska, where they intend to embark in business and follow their trade, that of carpentering.

Mrs. W. H. Dolman returned the first of the week from Salem, where she had spent several weeks at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Giltner, who has been critically ill for some time.

It is feared that the sudden moderation of the weather and the prevailing warm rains will have taken the snow off so rapidly as to cause a very high water in the Willamette.

A package containing a pair of men's slippers and a purse—empty, however—was dropped on the street Tuesday morning. Finder please leave at this office.

We have the results of some men, even in St. Helens, who are trying to settle the Philippine question, who, in reality, could scarcely settle a laundry bill.

Messrs. J. H. Sheldon and W. H. Dolman put up a large quantity of ice during the recent cold snap which will come in very handy next summer.

Sheriff Rice's tax-collecting bond, in the sum of $8,000, will be filed in a day or two, and tax collecting will be proceeded with probably by Tuesday next.

The final settlement of the William Wilkinson estate was made in the probate court on Tuesday, and the administratrix discharged.

Rev. Philbrook will preach next Sunday at Bachelor Flat at 11 o'clock a. m. and at Scappoose at 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Gray, of Portland, will conduct services in the Episcopal church next Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

M. C. Gray and James Muckle were attending to business affairs in Portland Monday afternoon.

Tom Cooper was up from Kalama the first of the week attending to business matters here.

County Clerk Watts was doing business in Portland last Saturday.

Uncle Simon Fullerton, of Warren, was in town Monday.

It is said that Representative Hall was in this city on Tuesday.

Do not forget the mite party tomorrow night.
